BOOKSELLERS, STATIONERS

This community has been considerably excited to day by the appearance at noon of the fugitive from Harper's Ferry, supposed to be Cook. A gentlemen from Quincy over took the man on the road leading from Waynesboro to this place, and carried him some distance in his buggy. When about three miles from the town, the man got out of the vehicle under pretence of taking another road. About an hour after this, the gentleman saw him on one of our streets, and informed two others who followed and tracked him to the house at which Brown's men have boarded when in town. Posting one man to guard, the other went for assistance, but before returning, the

by a number of citraens, but no trace could be discovered. The blanket is marked "E. H." and both it and the rifle are in possess sion of Sheriff Brown. It is believed the man has other weapons. Cook's wife and child are now and have been for the past week at the house through which he passed, but she decies this man being Cook. The general impression, however, is that it was. He had on a black slouch hat, high crowned and somewhat faded, a black frock coat with outside pockets, light brown pants, very large and heavy boots, and a red and white striped calico shirt. His height was about 5 feet, 6 or 7 inches, complexion sair low, light hair, out straight across behind, beard and mustaches of sandy color, beard not heavy. His general appearance was very rough and shabby. Parties are now in pursuit of him, and others leave in the morning. For all purposes, at a
